For those fully vaccinated...

Governor rescinds Illinois mask mandate

By Sarah Mansur
Capitol News Illinois
smansur@capitol-newsillinois.com

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. JB Pritzker issued a new executive order Monday that allows fully vaccinated residents to not wear masks inside and outdoors.

The updated rules for mask wearing are nearly identical to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's updated guidance, which was released Thursday, May 13.

The CDC guidance permits fully vaccinated people to not wear masks or physically distance in any non-health care setting, "except where required by federal, state, local, tribal, or territorial laws, rules, and regulations, including local business and workplace guidance."

The CDC still recommends that fully vaccinated people wear masks in health care settings, as well as on planes, trains and other forms of public transportation.

The new executive order requires residents follow this recommendation regarding planes and public transportation. It also permits any entity to continue stricter masking requirements than are required by the state.

"(B)usinesses are encouraged to prioritize the health and safety of their workers and customers, and may continue to require face coverings and social distancing, even for those who are fully vaccinated," the order states.

Pritzker said it will be up to private businesses to decide if they want to require patrons to provide proof of vaccinations.

"We are relying on people to do the right thing," he said. "We are relying upon people to recognize that they don't want to go infect other unvaccinated people and they don't themselves want to get sick and so it's important for people to protect themselves and I think there's real motivation for people to go get that. We're not going to stop people and, you know, start checking a vaccine passport as part of some state mandate."

The mask mandate in Illinois took effect last May when Pritzker issued an executive order requiring anyone older than 2 years of age "to cover their nose and mouth with a face-covering when in a public place and unable to maintain a six-foot social distance."

A spokesperson for the secretary of state said the office is awaiting further direction from the governor (continued on page 2)

COVID-19 virtual town hall meeting set

While the Illinois Department of Public Health, IDPH, reported on May 13 that more than 62 percent of Illinois adults have already received their first dose of the COVID-19 vaccine, hesitancy among residents to get vaccinated continues to be a primary concern in the healthcare community.

For Southern Seven Health Department, and the rest of Illinois, one county in particular is drawing widespread attention.

Alexander County currently has the lowest vaccination rate of any county in the state.

As of May 13, only 12 percent of the population in the county had been vaccinated — despite weekly vaccine clinics being held in the county since January.

In an effort to understand the reasons behind the low rate, Southern Seven Health Department plans to have a community COVID-19 virtual town hall meeting on May 25 from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The health department was approached by members of the Alexander-Pulaski Branch of the NAACP to plan the virtual town hall meeting.

This was in response to the sharp reduction in attendance at vaccine clinics in the area, organizers said.

"The main goal of the town hall is to have a down-to-earth conversation with residents in our region," said Natalie Sawyer, the health educator director at Southern Seven Health Department.

"We accept that getting vaccinated is a personal choice. However, it remains all of our responsibility to educate and spread awareness when it comes to public health concerns," Sawyer said.

Special guests for the virtual town hall are scheduled to include Dr. Damon Arnold with Blue Cross, Blue Shield of Illinois; IDPH director Dr. Ngozi Ezike; and Dr. Vidhya Prakash and Dr. Vidya Sundareshan with the SIU School of Medicine.

Those in attendance at the meeting will have the opportunity to ask questions about COVID-19 and the vaccines.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, CDC, reports that a number of studies show that COVID-19 vaccines are working in the real world.

Studies show them to be greater than 90 percent effective in preventing mild and severe disease, hospitalization and death.

Vaccines have also proven to be effective against the SARS-CoV-2 variants currently circulating in the country.

The health department said that it is through discussions with healthcare professionals and those who have received the vaccine that vaccine hesitancy can be overcome.

"We are trying to give residents an opportunity to ask those burning questions about COVID-19 and the vaccines," Sawyer said. "Understandably so, our community still has questions and this is our way of trying to help with that."

Illinois State Police planning special traffic enforcement patrols during May in county

Illinois State Police District 22 is planning to conduct Special Traffic Enforcement Patrols during May in Union County.

Capt. Michael Alvey, the commander of District 22, announced plans for the patrols.

The patrols will allow the state police to focus on the "fatal four" violations which contribute the greatest to traffic crashes and fatalities.

Those violations include driving under the influence, DUI; safety belt and child restraint use; speeding; and distracted driving.

The Illinois State Police will increase their daytime and nighttime patrols to ensure the safety of vehicle travelers through enforcement of all traffic safety laws.

Impaired driving is a factor in more than 30 percent of traffic deaths in Illinois, the state police noted.

Speeding is a factor in nearly 35 percent of fatal crashes; and, nearly 50 percent of vehicle occupants killed in traffic crashes were known to not be buckled up.

The project is funded through the Illinois Department of Transportation.

County commissioners meeting held Friday

An update on property tax bills and action related to a program which seeks to prevent juvenile offenders from being incarcerated were on the agenda at last week's regular meeting of the Union County Board of Commissioners.

The meeting was Friday morning, May 14, at the Union County Courthouse in Jonesboro.

Discussion at the meeting indicated that county property tax bills are expected to be in the mail on June 1. Payment due dates are anticipated on July 15 and Sept. 15.

The commissioners approved an application and budget for the Illinois Department of Human Services, DHS, Redeploy Illinois program.

Union County administers the program for the First Judicial Circuit in Southern Illinois.

The circuit includes Union, Jackson, Johnson, Massac, Pope, Pulaski, Saline and Williamson counties.

Redeploy Illinois has been operating in the circuit since 2014. According to the DHS website, the goal of the program is to decrease juvenile incarceration through programs that maintain public safety and promote positive outcomes for youth.

Program director Becky Pearce shared an update about the program with county officials. The program has served 46 juveniles during the current fiscal year; it is hoped that 64 can be served during the new fiscal year.

A $693,474.20 budget is in place for Fiscal Year 2021-2022, which begins July 1.

In addition to the DHS application and budget, the county board also approved five subcontracts related to the program.

"I think it's a great program," county board chairman Max Miller commented about Redeploy Illinois. He noted that former Union County state's attorney, and now judge, Tyler R. Edmonds played an instrumental role in beginning the program in the circuit.

Miller also noted that funding for the program's budget is from grants. The funds do not come from the county budget.

In other business at Friday's meeting:

The commissioners approved a tourism grant application request in the amount of $7,500 from the Shawnee Hills Wine Trail. The county's hotel/motel tax board recommended approval of the funding request.

Commissioner Darryl Harvell reported that he has been appointed to serve on the Southern Five Regional Planning District's executive committee.

The commissioners approved a declaration of county surplus property. The items will be sold in an online auction.

A resolution appointing Mathew Lambdin and Justin Pender to the Shawnee Valley Water District Board of Directors was approved.

A resolution appointing Yvonne Graham, Debbie Tripp, Leonard Sadler, Brian Hill and Sherri Housman to the Ebenezer Hall Cemetery Board was approved.

A resolution appointing Aaron Hall to the Lick Creek Public Water District Board was approved.

Mask mandate

The governor's new order rolling back the mask mandate came as the state is reporting 37.7 percent of the population, or more than 4.8 million people, are fully vaccinated.

About 57 percent of Illinoisans between ages 16 and 64 have received at least one dose of the vaccine, as have 81.3 percent of those 65 years of age or older.

The number of COVID-19 cases and hospitalizations reported are decreasing, as the state moved into the "bridge" phase on Friday, increasing capacity limits for various indoor and outdoor venues.

If COVID metrics remain stable, the state is set to fully reopen without limitations on capacity on June 11.

Hospitalizations for the week ending May 16 fell by about 14 percent from the week prior. As of Sunday, there were 1,512 individuals in the hospital with COVID-19.

On Monday, IDPH reported 946 new confirmed and probable cases out of 33,148 tests, with a rolling case positivity rate of 2.4 percent, down from 2.8 percent for the previous Monday.

The state reported six additional COVID-related deaths Monday, bringing the total death toll to 22,445.

Rapid COVID testing to be offered at middle, high schools

In an effort to ensure in-person learning can fully resume as quickly and safely as possible, the Illinois Department of Public Health, IDPH, has announced a $225 million investment to expand access to covidSHIELD testing to middle and high schools across the state at low or no cost.

The covidSHIELD test, which was developed by the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign, is a saliva-based test that quickly detects the virus that causes COVID-19, including in people who aren't exhibiting symptoms.

Testing will help quickly identify individuals who are positive for COVID-19 so that people who are close contacts of that individual can be quarantined to prevent further spread. This could include exposure in school, sports or other extracurricular activities.

The more quickly a case can be identified, the number of potential exposures to other people can be reduced, as well as the number of people needing to quarantine, state officials said.

Instead of a nasal swab, the test uses saliva, which takes minutes to collect and results are available within 12 to 24 hours after the sample reaches the lab.

The specimens will be collected at each participating school and parental consent is required.

Three Illinois Congressmen introduce legislation to raise police salaries, hire more officers

In honor of National Police Week, three U.S. Representatives from Illinois recently introduced the David Dorn Back the Blue Act.

The measure was introduced by U.S. Reps. Mike Bost, Rodney Davis and Darin LaHood. All three are Republicans.

The bill would authorize $15 billion through the U.S. Department of Justice to help state and local law enforcement agencies hire and retain officers.

The legislation is named in honor of David Dorn, a retired St. Louis Police Department captain, who was killed on June 2, 2020, while protecting a friend's store during a violent night of rioting in St. Louis. He served for 38 years with the St. Louis Police Department.

"Defunding the police will not make our communities safer - in fact, the statistics prove the opposite," Bost said in a news release.

"Now more than ever, it is critical that we provide our men and women in blue with the resources and training they need to keep our communities safe.

"I'm proud to once again support the David Dorn Back the Blue Act and stand with our law enforcement officials in Southern Illinois and around the nation."

Provisions which are part of the David Dorn Back the Blue Act include:

Authorizing $15 billion through the Department of Justice to help state and local law enforcement departments to boost their department personnel.

Retaining existing funding for the Mental Health and Wellness Act services at a minimum level in an effort to not negatively impact existing mental health services; providing that only funding appropriated over the currently authorized level of $7.5 million can be used for the purposes of the bill.

Providing funding for additional officer hires and officer retention for departments that need more manpower on their police forces.

Giving pay raises to officers by allowing recipients to use federal funds to raise the salaries of officers up to 110 percent of the local median earnings.

Excluding cities that defund their police by not allowing any department to receive money for pay raises that recently cut officer salaries.

Including language to ensure that an agency that has reduced salaries in the year prior due to COVID-19 related budget constraints are not penalized, only those seeking to dismantle law enforcement agencies.

In the first book, Theophilus, I dealt with all that Jesus did and taught until the day he was taken up, after giving instructions through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen. He presented himself alive to them by many proofs after he had suffered, appearing to them during forty days and speaking about the kingdom of God.

While meeting with them, he enjoined them not to depart from Jerusalem, but to wait for "the promise of the Father about which you have heard me speak; for John baptized with water, but in a few days you will be baptized with the Holy Spirit." When they had gathered together they asked him, "Lord, are you at this time going to restore the kingdom to Israel?" He answered them, "It is not for you to know the times or seasons that the Father has established by his own authority. But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, throughout Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth."

When he had said this, as they were looking on, he was lifted up, and a cloud took him from their sight. While they were looking intently at the sky as he was going, suddenly two men dressed in white garments stood beside them. They said, "Men of Galilee, why are you standing there looking at the sky? This Jesus who has been taken up from you into heaven will return in the same way as you have seen him going into heaven." From the Acts of the Apostles

Jesus said to his disciples: "Go into the whole world and proclaim the gospel to every creature. Whoever believes and is baptized will be saved; whoever does not believe will be condemned. These signs will accompany those who believe: in my name they will drive out demons, they will speak new languages. They will pick up serpents with their hands, and if they drink any deadly thing, it will not harm them. They will lay hands on the sick, and they will recover."

So then the Lord Jesus, after he spoke to them, was taken up into heaven and took his seat at the right hand of God. But they went forth and preached everywhere, while the Lord worked with them and confirmed the word through accompanying signs. From the Gospel of Mark

Camp Ground Church, Community

Kayton Crane, assisted by her grandfather Rodney Miller, rang the bell calling all to worship. Addi Bonner and Reed Crane received the offering.

Rev. Thompson's sermon Sunday was based on scripture from the Gospel of John referred to as Jesus' High Priestly Prayer.

The message shared that "prayer is communication with God." In the selected scripture, Jesus was communicating with His Father on behalf of His disciples as He knew His time on Earth was ending.

The message continued: "Even knowing all that was going to happen to Him in the next few hours, Jesus spent most of this prayer time praying for His disciples and for us, future believers.

"Jesus had taught the disciples all He could; now he was praying for God to care for them, for unity as they continued ministry, and show love as Jesus had loved them.

"Jesus didn't pray that we would all be the same, but that our individualism would not divide us in the fellowship of the church.

"Two thousand years later, as Christians, we are struggling for unity in service to Him. Somehow the church universal as a whole has fallen short of the unity Christ prayed for."

Rev. Thompson closed with questions: "What does the world see when it looks at us? Will you pray - communicate with God - so that the world can see Jesus in you?"

The session held its first in-person meeting since the COVID outbreak following morning worship.

All are welcome at Camp Ground Church for in-person Bible study at 9:30 a.m. on Sunday, followed by worship at 10:30 a.m.

Services are also available via Zoom. Any member of the congregation can be contacted to learn how to be connected to the link.

Birthdays this week go to Camp Ground Church's pastor Dee Ann Thompson on May 19 and to Vanda Gerard on May 20.

4-H planning to offer new Family Camp this summer

Families will have the chance to create new memories as they experience 4-H Memorial Camp together this summer as 4-H unveils a new Family Camp model for 2021.

Families will have the opportunity to stay together in cabins while experiencing outdoor adventures and activities throughout their stay.

"While safety is our first priority, we knew we wanted the camp to be used in some capacity this summer," says Andy Davis, University of Illinois Extension 4-H Memorial Camp director.

"All of the things that make camp great like outdoor adventures, hiking, boating, and swimming are just as fun socially distanced once we flipped to a family camp model."

Family campers will get their own cabin for a three-day, two-night retreat with planned activities geared for campers 8 and older, although younger family members will be welcome.

Camp and activity size will be closely monitored with meals served family style at designated indoor or outdoor family dining spaces.

COVID antigen testing will be required of all participants and administered by 4-H Camp employees prior to entry for each session.

All Illinois Department of Public Health COVID-19 protocols will be enforced: masks must be worn by all participants and staff when indoors or around others outdoors; 6-foot social distancing will be encouraged; hand sanitizer will also be available throughout the camp.

Available Family Camp dates are June 6-8, June 18-20 and July 9-11.

Due to the nature of Family Camp, a parent or guardian must stay with their campers for the duration of their camp session.

Sign up for the camp is available online at <https://4h.extension.illinois.edu/programs/camping/4-h-family-camp>.

Volunteer Helper

Zach Dudley volunteered his time to clean up and revitalize the veterans memorial area located at Shawnee Community College.

The area is often used by students and staff alike: some study, some chat, some enjoy their lunch or some just to take a break.

Zach is finishing his first year at SCC, majoring in criminal justice.

The veterans area is close to his heart, having many close relatives who served.

In 2020, Zach was awarded the American Legion Area Ritual Team (Jackson, Mo.) Scholarship by Buddy Walls. Buddy's name is on the honor monument.

Zach also was awarded a scholarship through the Anna Moose Lodge, and their name is also on the honor monument.

With appreciation in his heart and respect for all veterans, Zach cleaned, weeded, mulched and planted.

American Legion

A special thanks to our American Legion for taking care of the flags in our Anna Cemetery. Homer Hawk recently changed the flags on the dough boy.

Herman Wright Drive

Did you ever wonder how streets got their name? I had someone recently ask me how or why Herman Wright Drive in our Anna park had that name.

I had to do some research but found out. Herman was a precinct committee person and worked to get the Saturn car plant here in Anna. That was how the street was named that.

It was a really big thing that he was getting them to come to Anna but then it all fell through.

Saturn was founded on Jan. 7, 1985, in Detroit, Mich., founder Roger Smith ceased operation on Oct. 31, 2010.

There have been so many wonderful people who have worked to help make Anna a wonderful place to live and raise our children and have tried to

Birthday Celebration

Martha Ann Webb was honored by her family Friday night with a birthday dinner at El Jalapeño's in Anna by Curt, Bessie and Elijah Ellis. Other guests were Earl and Brian Miller.

Bessie and Elijah took Martha Ann to one of her favorite places on her birthday Saturday, May 15, yard sales, then to Cape Girardeau so Elijah could look at 4 wheelers for his coming up birthday, Buckeyes, to the Traders Mall in Sikeston, Mo., stopped at the Strawberry Festival, dinner at the Roadhouse in Cape Girardeau, where Martha Ann got a big Yee Haw from the waiters and the Bald Knob Cross for a sticker for Blessings of the Jeeps.

I really appreciated all the cards, phone calls and messages everyone sent me. Made me feel very special on my birthday.

I received a happy birthday card from Louise Pitts from Texas who told me how much she loved reading my Anna news and The Gazette-Democrat and keeping up on her home town and people in Southern Illinois. She was afraid my card wouldn't get here on time but I got it right on my birthday.

Ellis School

Received this letter from Bobby E. Chase, Ret. USAF, in response to the Ellis School article I wrote looking for a picture of the Ellis School.

In the year 1930, I was five years old and I wanted to go to school. The City Schools required students to be six years of age before New Year's.

Country schools only required students to be six years of age before school ended.

My mother arranged for me, at 7:30 each week day morning, to walk up Vienna Street past the flour mill, to the corner of Vienna and Main Street.

There I would wait for my teacher, Miss Lamer to pick me up in her Model "A" to transport me to the Ellis School, about two miles north of Anna.

The Ellis School was basically a one room building on about one acre of ground. At the front of the room was a teacher's desk with a large blackboard behind it.

On the south side of the room was a row of large windows. In the middle of the room were several rows of desks varying in size for children from first through eighth grades.

In the rear of the room was a coal stove providing the only heat. On the north side of the room was an old organ powered by foot pedals. There were several paper music rolls from the Gay '90's stored on top of the organ.

To the north of the school was a pond, but we seldom went there because of water snakes and turtles.

Near the southeast corner of the building were two outhouses. I believe they were three hollers. To the rear of the school was a forest. No one went there except in the spring time when 7th and 8th graders would disappear to start budding romances.

Before school started, it was my chore to bring in a bucket of coal for the stove. Other children had other chores such as sweeping floors or wiping windows.

At 9 a.m. the teacher would ring a hand-held bell and the class would line up outside the front door then march into the classroom to our desks. The teacher would then pass out assignments to each grade.

Zach Dudley volunteered his time to clean up and revitalize the veterans memorial area located at Shawnee Community College.

The curriculum relied heavily on Reading, Writing and Arithmetic. Each grade would be called to the teacher's desk to recite and ask questions.

This was the start of the Great Depression, and the teacher noticed that some students were coming to school without their lunches.

The teacher asked those students who could, to bring raw vegetables to school. She would slice those vegetables in a pot and she added meat, which she furnished. The pot simmered on the coal stove and we all shared a delicious stew.

In the winter when it snowed, we would make snowmen and large snowballs. Our recesses allowed for simple games like tag and hide and seek.

In the springtime the 7th and 8th graders disappeared to pick strawberries to help support their families. Because of this, it took some children more than eight years to complete the eight grades. Many students did not proceed to High School, thinking that as farmers they would not need further education.

As for myself, I was allowed to go to city schools the following years. I went on to graduate from A-JCHS in 1942. I entered the USAF in 1943 and I never returned to Anna to live permanently, as my family had moved to California.

Bobby E. Chase, Ret. USAF

Thanks to Bob Chase for sending this letter. He also told me he would write another letter about growing up in Anna during the Depression. I am looking forward to receiving it.

It is always good to hear from those who live away from Anna and still take The Gazette-Democrat to keep up on their hometown they grew up in.

State's revenue picture shows improvement

By Peter Hancock
Capitol News Illinois
phancock@capitol-newsillinois.com

SPRINGFIELD – Illinois budget officials said Thursday, May 13, that revenues are flowing into state coffers at a faster pace than previously estimated, meaning lawmakers will have more money to work with as they try to finalize a new budget for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

The Governor's Office of Management and Budget officially raised its revenue estimate for the current fiscal year by more than $1.4 billion and by $842 million for the upcoming fiscal year.

Those figures are similar to the latest revised estimates from the General Assembly's budget monitoring agency, the Commission on Government Forecasting and Accountability, which said earlier in May that revenues for the current year would go up about $2 billion while next year's revenues would be $792 million more than previously forecasted.

That came as good news to state lawmakers who are trying to finalize the next fiscal year's budget before their scheduled adjournment day on May 31, but it still was not enough to completely close the looming deficit in next year's budget, which House Majority Leader Greg Harris, D-Chicago, estimated at around $1.3 billion.

"The choices are really clear," Harris said during a news conference on May 13.

"We're either going to have to find ways to cut to fill that hole, or we're going to have to review the proposals that the governor made to close corporate tax loopholes on wealthy individuals and corporations. Some mix of those will be required."

In February, Pritzker proposed filling the budget hole with about $1.5 billion in revenue enhancements that included closing what he called "corporate tax loopholes," but which Republicans prefer to call "business incentives."

So far, however, lawmakers have not appeared anxious to take up Pritzker's tax proposals, at least until they have a clearer idea of how big of a budget hole needs to be filled.

"I think there's a number of things that the governor has proposed that we've asked members to take a deep dive and to be mindful of to think about how it would affect their constituents vis-à-vis the overall state budget... We remain very, very invested in trying to get a responsible budget to the governor's desk," said Rep. Michael Zalewski, D-Riverside, who chairs the House Revenue Committee.

Pritzker's budget plan was drafted before Congress passed the American Rescue Plan, which will send about $8.1 billion in fiscal relief to the state.

But the U.S. Treasury Department is still in the process of finalizing rules for how that money can be spent, and on May 13, Harris cautioned against trying to use it to fill the state's ongoing structural budget deficit.

"We know that this is an amount of money that can be spent over the course of four years, so we have to be very thoughtful as how we spend it over a period of time," he said.

"We know it's largely one-time money. So I think we're all going to want to look at it really carefully to be sure that we're not building this into a base that then there would be a cliff when this money expired."

State and local governments also stand to receive significant federal aid.

According to Harris, the federal law will send about $5.9 billion to Illinois cities and towns, $5 billion to public schools, $1.3 billion to colleges and universities, $1.7 billion for public health programs and $1.35 billion for child care and Head Start programs.

The Treasury Department has published interim rules that outline general categories of spending that qualify under the law.

They include responding to the public health emergency or its negative economic impacts; providing premium pay to essential workers during the pandemic; making up for revenue lost due to the pandemic; and investing in water, sewer or broadband infrastructure.

The interim rules also say the funds may not be used for funding pension plans or paying down debt.

Pritzker and Comptroller Susana Mendoza have said Illinois should be allowed to use the money to repay short-term loans the state took out from the Federal Reserve during the pandemic, and they have urged federal officials to make that change when the final rules are published in July.

"The Preaching Pen" The Need for Obedient Faith

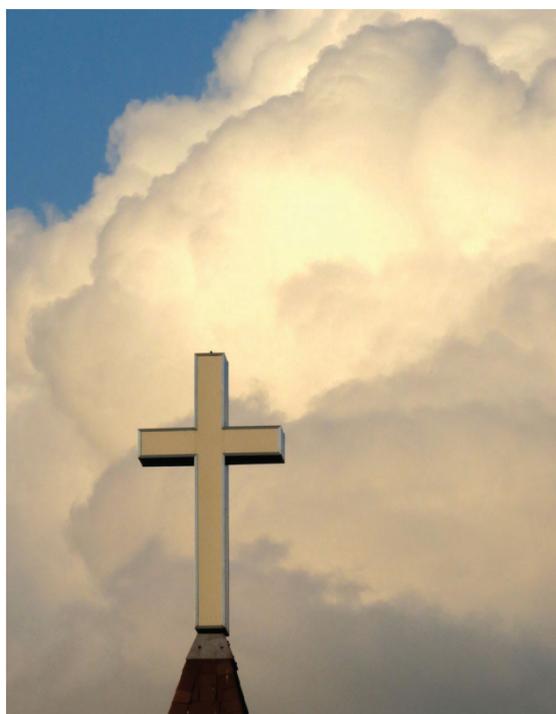

If you were to ask the average religious person what you had to do in order to become a Christian and go to Heaven, I imagine the answer would go something like this: "Just believe in Jesus Christ, and you'll be saved. We're saved by faith—that's all we need." What we must be concerned with is this: is that what the Bible teaches?

The Bible doesn't teach this false concept at all, but people take verses out of context and try to teach that a person has absolutely nothing to do with his or her salvation. They distort passages where Paul teaches that we're saved by grace or by faith. For example, Rom. 3:28: "Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law." Also: Eph. 2:8: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God."

When people remove these verses from their context, they teach that a person cannot do one thing toward their salvation because if they did, it would be considered a work, and therefore one can only be saved by grace alone by merely believing in God. When we keep things in their proper context, we see Paul is teaching that a person cannot be saved by the works of Moses' law because it was no longer in effect.

You see, there are different types of works. There are works of the Old Law, and there are works of merit. Neither one of these is going to add one whit to your salvation. However, there is another kind of work mentioned in the Bible in which every Christian must engage in order to accept God's grace and salvation, and that is an obedient faith. This is why you see Jesus saying things like John 14:15: "If ye love me, keep my commandments" and Matt. 7:21: "Not every one that saith unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven." Jesus expects some effort from us in order to make it to Heaven—

"Keep My commandments. Do the will of My Father." God demands that we accept the salvation He offers by grace and keep salvation by means of an obedient faith. God has always demanded action on our part to receive the gift that He has freely made available. Have you obeyed?

Mayor signs proclamation designating May as Mental Health Awareness Month

Mayor Steve Hartline has signed a proclamation designating May as Mental Health Awareness Month in Anna.

"The staff at Senior Solutions appreciates the support," Lawless said.

The proclamation signed by Anna's mayor declares that:

"...mental health is essential to everyone's overall health and well-being.

"...all Americans face challenges in life that can impact their mental health, especially during a pandemic.

"...prevention is an effective way to reduce the burden of mental health conditions.

"...there are practical tools that all people can use to improve their mental health and increase resiliency.

"...mental health conditions are real and prevalent in our nation.

Southeast Missouri State greenhouse earns certification

Southeast Missouri State University's Charles Hutson Horticulture Greenhouse recently became the first retailer in Cape Girardeau to be certified by Proven Winners, a brand composed of leading plant propagators around the world.

The certification makes Southeast one of only two retailers in the southeast Missouri region to hold the designation.

Greenhouse manager Melissa LaPlant said the certification will bring in more customers and generate more sales.

"It also gives us a higher level for professionalism," LaPlant said. "It further opens a door for the students in horticulture."

The Charles Hutson Greenhouse is an on-campus facility that provides experiential learning and student entrepreneurship through commercial plant production and retail sales. It is the largest student-run production greenhouse in the country.

Along with proclaiming May as Mental Health Month in Anna, the mayor also called upon "the citizens, government agencies, public and private institutions, businesses and schools in Anna to commit our community to increasing awareness and understanding of mental health, the steps our citizens can take to protect their mental health, and the need for appropriate and accessible services for all people with mental health conditions."

The Senior Solutions Program is an intensive outpatient counseling program.

The program is designed to meet the unique needs of older adults over the age of 65 who are struggling with depression and anxiety often related to aging.

Services which are offered include group therapy, individual therapy, family therapy, mental health evaluation, medication education and management, community resources and after-care planning.

Thanks to its certification, Southeast's greenhouse qualifies for further training from Proven Winners, LaPlant said.

"It is a resume builder, and it helps keep the students up to date on new cultivars coming to the market from Proven Winners," LaPlant said, "and it can further their education about certain plants."

Southeast is now authorized to sell the entire line of Proven Winners, which consists of shrubs, perennials and annuals, as well as some vegetables and herbs.

(Mill Creek and Upper Elco)

By Suzan Harvel

Sorry about the lack of a column last week. My husband had surgery that morning and in the hustle of getting out the door and to Cape on time I forgot to send it in. Likewise, today for eye two. Story of my life...BUT, he did really well with both surgeries.

Mill Creek Baptist had their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet May 6. It was a wonderful event and well attended.

Barbara Layman gave an uplifting program on mothers and emphasizing Proverbs 31. All the guests took home gifts of potted flowers, Mother's Day bookmarks, and Tonya Marshall received the balloon cluster gift.

We were honored to have six guests: Jean Lynn and daughter Lori Stettler, Joretta Spier, Nikki Bates, Fern Thompson and her daughter-in-law Diana Thompson.

Thanks go out to Lula Belle Tripp for the wonderful decorations. Thank you to all who brought such an awesome selection of food. Everything was spectacular.

Bon Kohler had visitors Friday night: Lori Stettler and Jean Lynn. They took along a covered plate from the abundance at the church dinner. Bon is doing well and eagerly awaiting the arrival of more family next month.

It was nice seeing Shawnna Rhine on television the other day. I've known her literally since she was born. My late grandmother, Agnes Smiddy, used to baby sit her. Her mother, Bonnie Kohler, tutored me in fourth grade math back in the day. She got me through, but, sorry Bonnie, I still don't like math.

Shawna works for Southern Seven and was reminding us to get those COVID shots. Something else I had to get through and didn't like doing.

Actually, it wasn't that bad. I received mine at the Southern Seven site in Anna and it was administered by soldiers. Talk about flashbacks.

My daddy was career Army and every shot I received from birth (in an Army barracks hospital) until I was married at age 19, was given by a soldier in uniform.

We had a nice chat while they waited to make sure I didn't have a reaction. Each had been posted somewhere I've been at one time or the other...imagine that. I sure appreciated their service to me on Friday.

Armed Forces Day was Saturday, May 15. I pray that all our armed forces are safe and thank God for them and the sacrifices that they continue to make, plus the vast and varied services they provide for us.

The Harvel household has had an abundance of company these past weekends. Tina and Darron Moore, of Poplar Bluff, Mo., visited with her mother Shirley Harvel on May 8.

Chuck and Martha Harvel, with three of the granddaughters, visited as well.

My children, Allison Harvel of Poplar Bluff, Mo., Nikki and Jordan Bates and sons of Cape Girardeau came to spend Mother's Day with me, their dad, and their grandmother, Shirley Harvel.

We were additionally blessed to see all of my brood again this past Sunday for my birthday. We won't discuss the number. I'm just thankful I'm celebrating another one.

A host of prayers are being lifted up for speedy recoveries after surgery for Gary Rider, Pauline Neighbors and Richard Harvel. We add prayers for Karen Sadler as she's been sick. Additional prayers go out to Ed Cates with his heart condition. Also, we are praying for the Ann Romine family as hospice has been called in.

I had occasion to visit the Cache River Wetlands Center this past week. I'd never been there and was very impressed with their ongoing mission and the museum facility. It's a beautiful place and Molly Oliver did an amazing job imparting information about the Cache River.

My group, the Daniel Chapman Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, and I learned a lot.

We heard all about the goals they have, the work that's been accomplished, and how the Cache River has changed over thousands of years.

They have a newsletter you'll find at friends-of-the-cache.org. It gives information on the programs they offer to teach fishing to youth, upcoming free fishing days, and so much more.

If you've not been, you need to make an effort. Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, and Louisiana aren't the only states with wetlands in our nation. Southern Illinois has 14,960 acres located in the Cache River State Natural Area alone. Check it out.

Mill Creek Baptist Church had their first Vacation Bible School meeting this past Tuesday. It's going to be different than in years past but I am looking forward to it. We've lots of planning ahead and need volunteers in several areas.

We've set the date for Aug. 2-6, from 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Another meeting will be held after morning services May 23. Please consider helping out.

I had a nice conversation with my cousin Jack Miller this week. He's on the board of the St. John's Cemetery and they won't be taking donations at the cemetery this year. They'll need to be mailed to John Mowery, 880 Sweet Potato Rd., Dongola, Ill. 62926.

Jack's brother Randy came to visit my mother-in-law, Shirley, this past week. She does enjoy company. Seems Randy is retired and we hope will be moving back locally soon. He's been living and working in Kansas since the Transcraft plant closed down. Thanks for stopping by Randy.

Amy Kram, president of the board at Mill Creek, stated that the Mill Creek Village board had a good meeting. Nothing new to impart beyond the laying of new mulch in the playground area. She is also my Tupperware dealer. If you need Tupperware, Amy's who you need to see.

Opinion and Commentary

Especially now, we can't thank our teachers enough

By Roger Eddy

Every year, we take time to celebrate School Principals' Day on May 1 and National Teacher Appreciation Day on May 4. The Appreciation Day for teachers has now turned into National Teacher Appreciation Week, and this year was celebrated May 2-8.

Back in the early 1950s, the idea of honoring our teachers originally came from Eleanor Roosevelt, former first lady of the United States and wife of President Franklin Roosevelt.

In 1980, the idea took on increased publicity and grew from that time into a rather significant day and week, when we routinely and officially give kudos to these people who have dedicated their lives to educating our young people.

This year, the official day and week for showing appreciation to our teachers has come and gone, but it occurred to me that a day or week is not enough time for us to collectively thank teachers and administrators for the work they performed this particular year. This year was in no way routine. Our efforts to appreciate these folks should also not be routine.

It all really started at the end of the 2019-20 school year, which turned out to be a dress rehearsal for the start of the 2020-21 school year. Teachers were forced into developing and employing remote learning techniques with no warning, from March 2020 until the end of the school year.

Technology was often spotty, at best, and in some remote areas not possible. Not to worry, school buses were used as mobile hot spots and homework wagons and meals were delivered to students.

Even in those districts rich with technological hardware and software, the techniques of teaching remotely for long periods of time had to be mastered. Zoom became a common part of the teaching vernacular.

Spring sports were canceled, some highlights of the year like prom were eliminated, and graduations were held mostly remotely or with major changes made to allow for social distancing and other necessary precautions.

Lock downs replaced annual field trips, and parents were often forced to become supervisors of "at home" learning. Many people learned just how difficult teaching can be.

During the summer of 2020, there was even more work done in an attempt to start the school year with a combination of remote and in-person learning.

Various approaches were used as creative learning techniques emerged. Some schools remained remote, some used a hybrid model and when in-person was possible, students and teachers got used to using face masks and social distancing as an entirely different environment emerged.

No matter the approach used, these efforts were often met with criticism, which became the true definition of a "no-win situation."

Through it all, our administrators, teachers and support staff personnel worked hard to do the best they could to provide our children with an education.

The teachers I have spoken with have had the most difficulty with the lack of contact with "their kids." Teaching is more than a profession; it is a calling. The best of the best become so invested in the success of their students that they lose sleep and suffer from anxiety worrying about how those they feel responsible for are doing. It is much more difficult to know how students are doing when the contact is hybrid or remote. Students count on teachers for a multitude of reasons beyond being educated.

This year, if you have not yet thanked a teacher or others who have worked so hard to provide your children with an education, don't let the fact that Teacher or Principal Appreciation Day has passed stop you. This has been an unusual year, let's extend the timeline and continue to thank teachers at least a bit longer.

Get a vaccination today

By Mike Estel

The national news agencies recently claimed that a vaccine for the COVID-19 virus has now been approved by the country's top physicians for 12- to 15-year-olds. The vaccine had previously been for all adults and youth down to 16 years of age.

This is very good news because the new virus strains have recently been spreading more among the younger generation.

The next step now is for those reluctant adults to stand in line and get the vaccination. From what all the country's top medical professionals are claiming, the virus isn't going to go away in our country until everyone gets vaccinated.

Toss aside politics and think about doing something that will help end this horrible pandemic. The light shining brightly at the end of the tunnel is that everyone needs a vaccination to halt this.

And, if one isn't convinced that shots work, look at those countries that are mired down with the virus because the majority of their people have not received the vaccination.

Please think twice about making an honest effort and get that shot in the arm. It really doesn't hurt that much and it will pay huge dividends down the road. Don't wait for tomorrow, line up an appointment for a vaccine today.

A cardinal appeared to munching on a snail hors d'oeuvre one evening. By the way, have you ever wondered why "hors d'oeuvre" is pronounced "or derv"?

Nothing like letting loose with a good guffaw...

Once again this week, we're going to treat you to a little bit of this...and a little bit of that...you might even say this one is for the birds...it just kind of turned out that way...

Seemed like we had two or three seasons rolled into one last Sunday. Early in the morning, the weather was kind of coolish, with a not-so-balmy breeze. By Sunday afternoon, the weather had turned warm and humid. Hard to believe there was a wind chill on Mother's Day...just a week earlier.

Meanwhile...

The Other Half and yours truly went on a bit of a Pandemic Date last Sunday evening. We got a late start, so our adventure was kind of short.

The plan was to motor into the countryside and look for deer or what ever critter happened to make an appearance. Evening is a good time do such a thing. Or so I thought.

In a word, or two, the evening could be summed up by declaring: Oh, Dear, No Deer. Didn't see a single white-tail. Not a one.

We did see about a half dozen or so horses. A bunch of cows. A fountain in a pond. And, in keeping with sort of a theme for this week...some birds...

We also noticed how green the landscape had become since our last Pandemic Date a few weeks ago.

Meanwhile...

Speaking of dates, The Other Half and yours truly have been watching "Atlantic Crossing" on the PBS website. Check it out.

Watching the show kindled an interest in reading/learning more about World War II. Right now, I'm enjoying a book titled "1942" by Winston Groom.

Mr. Groom is the author of a novel which inspired a film by the name of "Forrest Gump." Maybe you've heard Mystery bird...saw this feathered critter high in the bare branches of a tree in Anna one evening. Right in town. Subsequent research suggested that the bird might be a kite. Or not.

This was one of two egrets the photographer saw out of his car window, one recent cool and cloudy day. One of the egrets abruptly decided there was a better home a-waiting in the sky, Lord, in the sky. (Keep on reading...you'll figure this one out...or not...)

of it. The movie was pretty good. So was the novel. So is "1942." Kind of like a box of chocolates... I suppose this column might be like a box of chocolates, too...just don't know what you're going to get...

And, in closing...almost...for this week...

Saturday night, I happened to catch some of a show on the radio called "The Midnight Special." Yes, my friends, there are still five or six of us left on the planet who still listen to shows on the radio.

The show airs on KRCU radio in Cape Girardeau and comes from WFMT radio in some place called Chicago. On the Chicago station's website, "The Midnight Special" is described as a "Unique weekly series featuring songs, silliness, and show tunes." Listeners are encouraged to "let loose with a good guffaw" when they tune in.

I'm all for silliness. I think the world would be a whole lot better off with a whole lot more silliness. And a few more guffaws. Just not enough guffawing going on these days. And, this listener did indeed let loose with a "good guffaw" last Saturday night when I heard one of the songs played on "The Midnight Special."

The song was a parody of a well-known, and well-liked by many, including yours truly, song called "Will the Circle Be Unbroken?" Great song. The parody was called "Will the Turtle Be Unbroken?" It was silly. Well worth a guffaw.

In closing...for real...

The Friends of Stinson are planning to have a summer book sale in June. June 12, as a matter of fact. At Stinson Memorial Library. Looking forward to it...

Enough for now...find a good book...and a box of chocolates...

Saw these young feathered critters high in another tree...at a location somewhere on the North American continent.
